

November 16, 2016

The Honorable Thomas Wheeler, Chairman
Federal Communications Commission
445 12th Street SW
Washington, DC 20540

James Arden Barnett, Jr.

T (202) 344-4695
F 202.344.8300
jbarnett@venable.com.

Re: Sandwich Isles Communications, Inc. Orders WC Docket 09-133

Dear Chairman Wheeler:

We represent Sandwich Isles Communications, Inc. (SIC) in matters for which two orders are currently circulating on the Eighth Floor, and we would like to visit with you and your staff as you consider and make decisions on these orders. We seek a resolution to put SIC on track with the Universal Service Administrative Company (USAC) and with the National Exchange Carrier Association (NECA) and to ensure that all Native Hawaiians in the Hawaiian Home Lands (HHL) continue to receive service.

We appreciate that the exhaustive work by the Commission staff has been completed and that you have been briefed, but we think that your decision-making would benefit from some matters which may not have been emphasized during the process.

I think it is significant that the Hawaiian Homes Commission approached the founder of SIC for a solution to the problem of lack of service to the Native Hawaiians in the HHL and the associated high infrastructure cost. Hawaiian Tel and others would not serve the HHL, even with federal assistance, and have shown no interest in serving areas that are hard to reach or have significant infrastructure challenges (the very reasons USAC and USF were created). SIC does not cherry-pick areas of the HHL; it serves all of its eligible study area. SIC built the network and serves the HHL, and with its infrastructure, SIC really is the only entity capable of providing service at the levels that meet the needs of the HHL residents at a reasonable cost.

The dismemberment of SIC would seriously endanger service to the public in the HHL and therefore the public safety of the Native Hawaiians in the HHL. The other carriers serving Hawaii may claim otherwise but they have made no showing of either an interest or ability to provide the level of service that the HHL now enjoys on the terms that SIC has been able to offer. No one has committed to serving the Native Hawaiians under the current terms of the license agreement, where SIC is obligated to construct and maintain the network infrastructure at its own cost (not the HHL) for unserved and underserved areas in remote areas on disparate islands, offering service at competitive prices, employment opportunities to people in these areas and to the benefit of the HHL.

The Honorable Thomas Wheeler, Chairman

November 16, 2016

Page 2

So a lot is at stake, and this is where we feel that the FCC and SIC, even though the last two years have been contentious, have a common interest: ensuring service to the Native Hawaiians where no one else really will deliver such service at the level and at the cost to HHL residents provided by SIC.

The nature, isolation and topography of the HHL dictates that providing service there will always be a high cost matter. The FCC even acknowledged (in the Transformation Order) that SIC would have financial problems with the new rules. The FCC, in its recent report and order on the Alaska Plan, recognized factors such as isolated populations, terrain, lack of access to infrastructure, non-contiguous areas, expanse and other unique factors. The FCC cannot, equitably, hold it against the Native Hawaiians that provision of service to them is and will be high cost.

USAC conducted multiple past audits of SIC without ever noting the items that have been identified in this audit. With respect to the current audit, no fraud was found. In the USAC audit, most of the monetary effects involved disputed interpretations and applications of accounting and allocation. These are the types of differences between reasonable practitioners that are commonly discussed, clarified and adjusted during the course of audits, but do not entail deliberate wrongdoing. If USAC had noted these previously and in a timely way, SIC would have taken corrective action years ago and may well have been able to claim some of those accounting changes through the traffic sensitive pools administered by NECA.

Further, if USAC is allowed to disrupt the well-established accounting practices and standards of the rural telephone industry by its interpretations and applications against SIC (including without requisite authority applying them retroactively), then massive revisions of high cost support and interstate access revenue requirements would need to be reviewed and imposed industry wide. Of course, as the Commission makes changes to its standards on an industry wide basis, those changes will apply to SIC; but, in that context, the Commission has recognized that there are special cost considerations that apply to certain rural service areas, including Hawaii.

We ask the FCC to recognize that the purpose of its orders should be corrective not punitive. This is particularly true since the only errors claimed to have been found by USAC relate to allocation of costs. USAC did not find that SIC or its owners falsified documents or otherwise engaged in illegal activity of the type that the Commission has found to exist in recent USF forfeiture orders.

We recognize that the FCC has a duty to ensure that its funds are distributed and used according to regulations. However, the recovery of funds should not be accomplished in a way that diminishes the service to or the safety of the native Hawaiians. It should not be punitive where there has been no finding of bad intent or fraud.

The Honorable Thomas Wheeler, Chairman

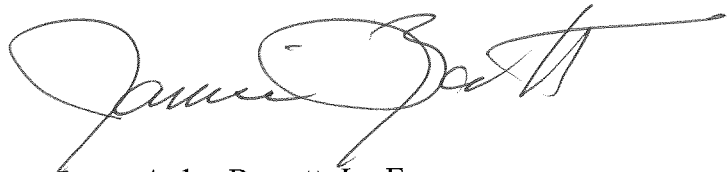

November 16, 2016

Page 3

Thank you for your thoughtful consideration of these matters. We look forward to the opportunity to meet with your or your staff to more fully explore these critical matter as you consider the two items that are before you.

Sincerely yours,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "James Arden Barnett, Jr.", with a stylized flourish at the end.

James Arden Barnett, Jr., Esq.
Rear Admiral USN (Ret.)

cc: Lisa Hone, Wireline Legal Advisor
Matthew DelNero, Wireline Competition Bureau Chief

November 16, 2016

The Honorable Mignon Clyburn, Commissioner
Federal Communications Commission
445 12th Street SW
Washington, DC 20540

James Arden Barnett, Jr.

T (202) 344-4695
F 202.344.8300
jbarnett@venable.com

Re: Sandwich Isles Communications, Inc. Orders WC Docket 09-133

Dear Commissioner Clyburn:

We represent Sandwich Isles Communications, Inc. (SIC) in matters for which two orders are currently circulating on the Eighth Floor, and we would like to visit with you and your staff as you consider and make decisions on these orders. We seek a resolution to put SIC on track with the Universal Service Administrative Company (USAC) and with the National Exchange Carrier Association (NECA) and to ensure that all Native Hawaiians in the Hawaiian Home Lands (HHL) continue to receive service.

We appreciate that the exhaustive work by the Commission staff has been completed and that you have been briefed, but we think that your decision-making would benefit from some matters which may not have been emphasized during the process.

I think it is significant that the Hawaiian Homes Commission approached the founder of SIC for a solution to the problem of lack of service to the Native Hawaiians in the HHL and the associated high infrastructure cost. Hawaiian Tel and others would not serve the HHL, even with federal assistance, and have shown no interest in serving areas that are hard to reach or have significant infrastructure challenges (the very reasons USAC and USF were created). SIC does not cherry-pick areas of the HHL; it serves all of its eligible study area. SIC built the network and serves the HHL, and with its infrastructure, SIC really is the only entity capable of providing service at the levels that meet the needs of the HHL residents at a reasonable cost.

The dismemberment of SIC would seriously endanger service to the public in the HHL and therefore the public safety of the Native Hawaiians in the HHL. The other carriers serving Hawaii may claim otherwise but they have made no showing of either an interest or ability to provide the level of service that the HHL now enjoys on the terms that SIC has been able to offer. No one has committed to serving the Native Hawaiians under the current terms of the license agreement, where SIC is obligated to construct and maintain the network infrastructure at its own cost (not the HHL) for unserved and underserved areas in remote areas on disparate islands, offering service at competitive prices, employment opportunities to people in these areas and to the benefit of the HHL.

The Honorable Mignon Clyburn, Commissioner

November 16, 2016

Page 2

So a lot is at stake, and this is where we feel that the FCC and SIC, even though the last two years have been contentious, have a common interest: ensuring service to the Native Hawaiians where no one else really will deliver such service at the level and at the cost to HHL residents provided by SIC.

The nature, isolation and topography of the HHL dictates that providing service there will always be a high cost matter. The FCC even acknowledged (in the Transformation Order) that SIC would have financial problems with the new rules. The FCC, in its recent report and order on the Alaska Plan, recognized factors such as isolated populations, terrain, lack of access to infrastructure, non-contiguous areas, expanse and other unique factors. The FCC cannot, equitably, hold it against the Native Hawaiians that provision of service to them is and will be high cost.

USAC conducted multiple past audits of SIC without ever noting the items that have been identified in this audit. With respect to the current audit, no fraud was found. In the USAC audit, most of the monetary effects involved disputed interpretations and applications of accounting and allocation. These are the types of differences between reasonable practitioners that are commonly discussed, clarified and adjusted during the course of audits, but do not entail deliberate wrongdoing. If USAC had noted these previously and in a timely way, SIC would have taken corrective action years ago and may well have been able to claim some of those accounting changes through the traffic sensitive pools administered by NECA.

Further, if USAC is allowed to disrupt the well-established accounting practices and standards of the rural telephone industry by its interpretations and applications against SIC (including without requisite authority applying them retroactively), then massive revisions of high cost support and interstate access revenue requirements would need to be reviewed and imposed industry wide. Of course, as the Commission makes changes to its standards on an industry wide basis, those changes will apply to SIC; but, in that context, the Commission has recognized that there are special cost considerations that apply to certain rural service areas, including Hawaii.

We ask the FCC to recognize that the purpose of its orders should be corrective not punitive. This is particularly true since the only errors claimed to have been found by USAC relate to allocation of costs. USAC did not find that SIC or its owners falsified documents or otherwise engaged in illegal activity of the type that the Commission has found to exist in recent USF forfeiture orders.

We recognize that the FCC has a duty to ensure that its funds are distributed and used according to regulations. However, the recovery of funds should not be accomplished in a way that diminishes the service to or the safety of the Native Hawaiians. It should not be punitive where there has been no finding of bad intent or fraud.

The Honorable Mignon Clyburn, Commissioner

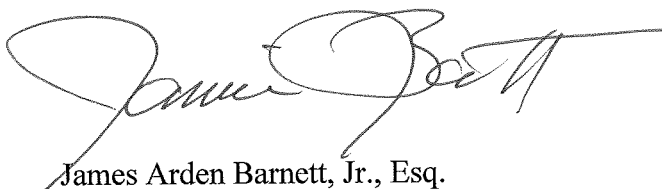

November 16, 2016

Page 3

Thank you for your thoughtful consideration of these matters. We look forward to the opportunity to meet with your or your staff to more fully explore these critical matter as you consider the two items that are before you.

Sincerely yours,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "James Arden Barnett, Jr.", with a stylized flourish at the end.

James Arden Barnett, Jr., Esq.
Rear Admiral USN (Ret.)

cc: David Grossman, Chief of Staff
Claude Aiken, Legal Advisor

November 16, 2016

The Honorable Jessica Rosenworcel, Commissioner
Federal Communications Commission
445 12th Street SW
Washington, DC 20540

James Arden Barnett, Jr.

T (202) 344-4695
F 202.344.8300
jbarnett@venable.com

Re: Sandwich Isles Communications, Inc. Orders WC Docket 09-133

Dear Commissioner Rosenworcel:

We represent Sandwich Isles Communications, Inc. (SIC) in matters for which two orders are currently circulating on the Eighth Floor, and we would like to visit with you and your staff as you consider and make decisions on these orders. We seek a resolution to put SIC on track with the Universal Service Administrative Company (USAC) and with the National Exchange Carrier Association (NECA) and to ensure that all Native Hawaiians in the Hawaiian Home Lands (HHL) continue to receive service.

We appreciate that the exhaustive work by the Commission staff has been completed and that you have been briefed, but we think that your decision-making would benefit from some matters which may not have been emphasized during the process.

I think it is significant that the Hawaiian Homes Commission approached the founder of SIC for a solution to the problem of lack of service to the Native Hawaiians in the HHL and the associated high infrastructure cost. Hawaiian Tel and others would not serve the HHL, even with federal assistance, and have shown no interest in serving areas that are hard to reach or have significant infrastructure challenges (the very reasons USAC and USF were created). SIC does not cherry-pick areas of the HHL; it serves all of its eligible study area. SIC built the network and serves the HHL, and with its infrastructure, SIC really is the only entity capable of providing service at the levels that meet the needs of the HHL residents at a reasonable cost.

The dismemberment of SIC would seriously endanger service to the public in the HHL and therefore the public safety of the Native Hawaiians in the HHL. The other carriers serving Hawaii may claim otherwise but they have made no showing of either an interest or ability to provide the level of service that the HHL now enjoys on the terms that SIC has been able to offer. No one has committed to serving the Native Hawaiians under the current terms of the license agreement, where SIC is obligated to construct and maintain the network infrastructure at its own cost (not the HHL) for unserved and underserved areas in remote areas on disparate islands, offering service at competitive prices, employment opportunities to people in these areas and to the benefit of the HHL.

The Honorable Jessica Rosenworcel, Commissioner

November 16, 2016

Page 2

So a lot is at stake, and this is where we feel that the FCC and SIC, even though the last two years have been contentious, have a common interest: ensuring service to the Native Hawaiians where no one else really will deliver such service at the level and at the cost to HHL residents provided by SIC.

The nature, isolation and topography of the HHL dictates that providing service there will always be a high cost matter. The FCC even acknowledged (in the Transformation Order) that SIC would have financial problems with the new rules. The FCC, in its recent report and order on the Alaska Plan, recognized factors such as isolated populations, terrain, lack of access to infrastructure, non-contiguous areas, expanse and other unique factors. The FCC cannot, equitably, hold it against the Native Hawaiians that provision of service to them is and will be high cost.

USAC conducted multiple past audits of SIC without ever noting the items that have been identified in this audit. With respect to the current audit, no fraud was found. In the USAC audit, most of the monetary effects involved disputed interpretations and applications of accounting and allocation. These are the types of differences between reasonable practitioners that are commonly discussed, clarified and adjusted during the course of audits, but do not entail deliberate wrongdoing. If USAC had noted these previously and in a timely way, SIC would have taken corrective action years ago and may well have been able to claim some of those accounting changes through the traffic sensitive pools administered by NECA.

Further, if USAC is allowed to disrupt the well-established accounting practices and standards of the rural telephone industry by its interpretations and applications against SIC (including without requisite authority applying them retroactively), then massive revisions of high cost support and interstate access revenue requirements would need to be reviewed and imposed industry wide. Of course, as the Commission makes changes to its standards on an industry wide basis, those changes will apply to SIC; but, in that context, the Commission has recognized that there are special cost considerations that apply to certain rural service areas, including Hawaii.

We ask the FCC to recognize that the purpose of its orders should be corrective not punitive. This is particularly true since the only errors claimed to have been found by USAC relate to allocation of costs. USAC did not find that SIC or its owners falsified documents or otherwise engaged in illegal activity of the type that the Commission has found to exist in recent USF forfeiture orders.

We recognize that the FCC has a duty to ensure that its funds are distributed and used according to regulations. However, the recovery of funds should not be accomplished in a way that diminishes the service to or the safety of the Native Hawaiians. It should not be punitive where there has been no finding of bad intent or fraud.

The Honorable Jessica Rosenworcel, Commissioner

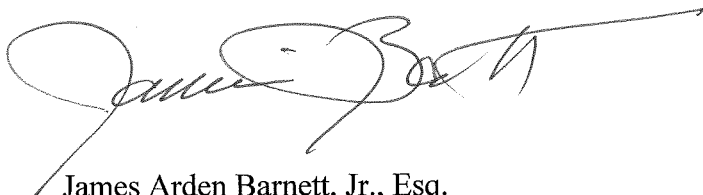

November 16, 2016

Page 3

Thank you for your thoughtful consideration of these matters. We look forward to the opportunity to meet with your or your staff to more fully explore these critical matter as you consider the two items that are before you.

Sincerely yours,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "James Arden Barnett, Jr.", with a long horizontal flourish extending to the right.

James Arden Barnett, Jr., Esq.
Rear Admiral USN (Ret.)

cc: Travis Litman, Senior Legal Advisor
Jennifer Thompson, Special Advisor

November 16, 2016

The Honorable Ajit Pai, Commissioner
Federal Communications Commission
445 12th Street SW
Washington, DC 20540

James Arden Barnett, Jr.

T (202) 344-4695
F 202.344.8300
jbarnett@venable.com

Re: Sandwich Isles Communications, Inc. Orders WC Docket 09-133

Dear Commissioner Pai:

We represent Sandwich Isles Communications, Inc. (SIC) in matters for which two orders are currently circulating on the Eighth Floor, and we would like to visit with you and your staff as you consider and make decisions on these orders. We seek a resolution to put SIC on track with the Universal Service Administrative Company (USAC) and with the National Exchange Carrier Association (NECA) and to ensure that all Native Hawaiians in the Hawaiian Home Lands (HHL) continue to receive service.

We appreciate that the exhaustive work by the Commission staff has been completed and that you have been briefed, but we think that your decision-making would benefit from some matters which may not have been emphasized during the process.

I think it is significant that the Hawaiian Homes Commission approached the founder of SIC for a solution to the problem of lack of service to the Native Hawaiians in the HHL and the associated high infrastructure cost. Hawaiian Tel and others would not serve the HHL, even with federal assistance, and have shown no interest in serving areas that are hard to reach or have significant infrastructure challenges (the very reasons USAC and USF were created). SIC does not cherry-pick areas of the HHL; it serves all of its eligible study area. SIC built the network and serves the HHL, and with its infrastructure, SIC really is the only entity capable of providing service at the levels that meet the needs of the HHL residents at a reasonable cost.

The dismemberment of SIC would seriously endanger service to the public in the HHL and therefore the public safety of the Native Hawaiians in the HHL. The other carriers serving Hawaii may claim otherwise but they have made no showing of either an interest or ability to provide the level of service that the HHL now enjoys on the terms that SIC has been able to offer. No one has committed to serving the Native Hawaiians under the current terms of the license agreement, where SIC is obligated to construct and maintain the network infrastructure at its own cost (not the HHL) for unserved and underserved areas in remote areas on disparate islands, offering service at competitive prices, employment opportunities to people in these areas and to the benefit of the HHL.

The Honorable Ajit Pai, Commissioner

November 16, 2016

Page 2

So a lot is at stake, and this is where we feel that the FCC and SIC, even though the last two years have been contentious, have a common interest: ensuring service to the Native Hawaiians where no one else really will deliver such service at the level and at the cost to HHL residents provided by SIC.

The nature, isolation and topography of the HHL dictates that providing service there will always be a high cost matter. The FCC even acknowledged (in the Transformation Order) that SIC would have financial problems with the new rules. The FCC, in its recent report and order on the Alaska Plan, recognized factors such as isolated populations, terrain, lack of access to infrastructure, non-contiguous areas, expanse and other unique factors. The FCC cannot, equitably, hold it against the Native Hawaiians that provision of service to them is and will be high cost.

USAC conducted multiple past audits of SIC without ever noting the items that have been identified in this audit. With respect to the current audit, no fraud was found. In the USAC audit, most of the monetary effects involved disputed interpretations and applications of accounting and allocation. These are the types of differences between reasonable practitioners that are commonly discussed, clarified and adjusted during the course of audits, but do not entail deliberate wrongdoing. If USAC had noted these previously and in a timely way, SIC would have taken corrective action years ago and may well have been able to claim some of those accounting changes through the traffic sensitive pools administered by NECA.

Further, if USAC is allowed to disrupt the well-established accounting practices and standards of the rural telephone industry by its interpretations and applications against SIC (including without requisite authority applying them retroactively), then massive revisions of high cost support and interstate access revenue requirements would need to be reviewed and imposed industry wide. Of course, as the Commission makes changes to its standards on an industry wide basis, those changes will apply to SIC; but, in that context, the Commission has recognized that there are special cost considerations that apply to certain rural service areas, including Hawaii.

We ask the FCC to recognize that the purpose of its orders should be corrective not punitive. This is particularly true since the only errors claimed to have been found by USAC relate to allocation of costs. USAC did not find that SIC or its owners falsified documents or otherwise engaged in illegal activity of the type that the Commission has found to exist in recent USF forfeiture orders.

We recognize that the FCC has a duty to ensure that its funds are distributed and used according to regulations. However, the recovery of funds should not be accomplished in a way that diminishes the service to or the safety of the Native Hawaiians. It should not be punitive where there has been no finding of bad intent or fraud.

The Honorable Ajit Pai, Commissioner

November 16, 2016

Page 3

Thank you for your thoughtful consideration of these matters. We look forward to the opportunity to meet with your or your staff to more fully explore these critical matter as you consider the two items that are before you.

Sincerely yours,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "James Arden Barnett, Jr.", with a stylized flourish extending to the right.

James Arden Barnett, Jr., Esq.
Rear Admiral USN (Ret.)

cc: Matthew Berry, Chief of Staff
Nicholas Degani, Legal Advisor

November 16, 2016

The Honorable Michael O'Rielly, Commissioner
Federal Communications Commission
445 12th Street SW
Washington, DC 20540

James Arden Barnett, Jr.

T (202) 344-4695
F 202.344.8300
jbarnett@venable.com

Re: Sandwich Isles Communications, Inc. Orders WC Docket 09-133

Dear Commissioner O'Rielly:

We represent Sandwich Isles Communications, Inc. (SIC) in matters for which two orders are currently circulating on the Eighth Floor, and we would like to visit with you and your staff as you consider and make decisions on these orders. We seek a resolution to put SIC on track with the Universal Service Administrative Company (USAC) and with the National Exchange Carrier Association (NECA) and to ensure that all Native Hawaiians in the Hawaiian Home Lands (HHL) continue to receive service.

We appreciate that the exhaustive work by the Commission staff has been completed and that you have been briefed, but we think that your decision-making would benefit from some matters which may not have been emphasized during the process.

I think it is significant that the Hawaiian Homes Commission approached the founder of SIC for a solution to the problem of lack of service to the Native Hawaiians in the HHL and the associated high infrastructure cost. Hawaiian Tel and others would not serve the HHL, even with federal assistance, and have shown no interest in serving areas that are hard to reach or have significant infrastructure challenges (the very reasons USAC and USF were created). SIC does not cherry-pick areas of the HHL; it serves all of its eligible study area. SIC built the network and serves the HHL, and with its infrastructure, SIC really is the only entity capable of providing service at the levels that meet the needs of the HHL residents at a reasonable cost.

The dismemberment of SIC would seriously endanger service to the public in the HHL and therefore the public safety of the Native Hawaiians in the HHL. The other carriers serving Hawaii may claim otherwise but they have made no showing of either an interest or ability to provide the level of service that the HHL now enjoys on the terms that SIC has been able to offer. No one has committed to serving the Native Hawaiians under the current terms of the license agreement, where SIC is obligated to construct and maintain the network infrastructure at its own cost (not the HHL) for unserved and underserved areas in remote areas on disparate islands, offering service at competitive prices, employment opportunities to people in these areas and to the benefit of the HHL.

The Honorable Michael O'Rielly, Commissioner

November 16, 2016

Page 2

So a lot is at stake, and this is where we feel that the FCC and SIC, even though the last two years have been contentious, have a common interest: ensuring service to the Native Hawaiians where no one else really will deliver such service at the level and at the cost to HHL residents provided by SIC.

The nature, isolation and topography of the HHL dictates that providing service there will always be a high cost matter. The FCC even acknowledged (in the Transformation Order) that SIC would have financial problems with the new rules. The FCC, in its recent report and order on the Alaska Plan, recognized factors such as isolated populations, terrain, lack of access to infrastructure, non-contiguous areas, expanse and other unique factors. The FCC cannot, equitably, hold it against the Native Hawaiians that provision of service to them is and will be high cost.

USAC conducted multiple past audits of SIC without ever noting the items that have been identified in this audit. With respect to the current audit, no fraud was found. In the USAC audit, most of the monetary effects involved disputed interpretations and applications of accounting and allocation. These are the types of differences between reasonable practitioners that are commonly discussed, clarified and adjusted during the course of audits, but do not entail deliberate wrongdoing. If USAC had noted these previously and in a timely way, SIC would have taken corrective action years ago and may well have been able to claim some of those accounting changes through the traffic sensitive pools administered by NECA.

Further, if USAC is allowed to disrupt the well-established accounting practices and standards of the rural telephone industry by its interpretations and applications against SIC (including without requisite authority applying them retroactively), then massive revisions of high cost support and interstate access revenue requirements would need to be reviewed and imposed industry wide. Of course, as the Commission makes changes to its standards on an industry wide basis, those changes will apply to SIC; but, in that context, the Commission has recognized that there are special cost considerations that apply to certain rural service areas, including Hawaii.

We ask the FCC to recognize that the purpose of its orders should be corrective not punitive. This is particularly true since the only errors claimed to have been found by USAC relate to allocation of costs. USAC did not find that SIC or its owners falsified documents or otherwise engaged in illegal activity of the type that the Commission has found to exist in recent USF forfeiture orders.

We recognize that the FCC has a duty to ensure that its funds are distributed and used according to regulations. However, the recovery of funds should not be accomplished in a way that diminishes the service to or the safety of the Native Hawaiians. It should not be punitive where there has been no finding of bad intent or fraud.

The Honorable Michael O'Rielly, Commissioner

November 16, 2016

Page 3

Thank you for your thoughtful consideration of these matters. We look forward to the opportunity to meet with your or your staff to more fully explore these critical matter as you consider the two items that are before you.

Sincerely yours,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "James Arden Barnett, Jr.", with a stylized flourish at the end.

James Arden Barnett, Jr., Esq.
Rear Admiral USN (Ret.)

cc: Amy Bender, Legal Advisor